

It Is Not Difficult

to keep the family in good humor if you have good, wholesome things to eat.

You can select a delightful lot of good things here.

The QUALITY makes them a pleasure.

Our prices make them an ECONOMY.

WITH THE FUNNY MEN

Pocketed the Insult.
"Mr. Grampus thought he would cure a borrowing neighbor of a bad habit."
"Proceed."
"When the neighbor sent over one morning to borrow a hammer, Mr. Grampus sent him a check to my one."
"How did the scheme work?"
"The neighbor expressed his thanks, and the next day wanted to borrow a lawn mower."

Got Off Easy.
His car had collided with a telephone pole. A crowd gathered round. "I think my collarbone is broken," he said to the policeman who bent over him.
"If that's all, yer in luck," growled the officer. "Sure, 'twas break-neck speed ye was goin' at."

His Position.
"What is your position on this great question?"
"My position," replied Senator Sorghum, "is somewhat like that of a tight-rope walker. I don't want to stop to argue or show off. What I want to do is to get across to solid ground."

Making Careful Inquiry.
"Those ladies are smoking."
"Quite the thing at an affair of this kind."
"Answer me one question, friend."
"Well?"
"What's the etiquette about asking a lady for a light?"

Precedent.
"Of course," observed the man with a ponderous intellect, "we must show the deepest respect for precedent."
"Of course," assented the man with a fountain pen. "But that's no excuse for going ahead writing '1919.'"

A Champion.
"What's Cholly doing since he graduated?"
"He's a bank runner."
"He ought to make good at that. He took many interscholastic prizes for running."

Reasonable Fear.
"Do you think Bliggins is afraid of work?"
"Shouldn't be surprised. Anybody who has slighted work as much as he has shouldn't expect any favors from it."

A POOR COUNTER.
"He's an expert accountant."
"I don't believe it. I played golf with him the other day and the score he handed in convinced me that he had never studied arithmetic."

Like Folk.
Flowers are like folk—the daisy shows humility, in byways growing. The violet's modest, but the rose, the rose is given to blowing.

And All the Rest, Too.
Bob—There goes the original numismatist in this town.
Jake—Must have some swell collection of coins.
Bob—He has. He's the head waiter in a restaurant downtown.

The Traffic Cop.
"I notice you don't interfere with the woman drivers, officer?"
"No, I try to make it a little easy for the ladies."
"Yet Justice is blind."
"Still, she's a woman."

Affinity.
"I have a dog and a hen that are fast friends."
"What can a dog and a hen have in common?"
"These two are both setters."

That Settles It.
Willie (excitedly)—Hey, pop, no more plaster can fall off the ceiling.
Pop—Is that so; what's the trouble?
Willie—It's all off.

Justified.
"Why are you telling everybody at the table my coffee is poor?"
"If you will look in my cup, madam, you will see I have grounds for my assertion."

Up-to-Date Riches.
"Jones has secured his pile, all right."
"Plenty of the long green, has he?"
"Long green, nothing! I was referring to his coal pile."

The Likely One.
"What is your birthstone?"
"Judging from the knocks I am always getting I should say it was a brickbat."

James Russell Lowell knew children. He said: "Children are God's apostles, sent forth, day by day, to preach of love and hope and peace."

Yes, the kiddies are apostles. I can keep your children ever children—ever apostles—ever preaching love.

Kiddies come here to this place I like to call a "Fountain of everlasting childhood"—a place that keeps babies babies—a place that catches a child smile and holds it forever and ever.

It is this place of the photograph—the photograph of realness—the photograph that can almost talk.

I've found mothers agree with me that the heart-beat of love is in the photograph of the child—a photograph that seems to live—a picture taken un-awares.

I want you to know of this kind of photography of children that helps—you have forever before you that moment of childhood so precious to you.
